ZEVE AND MY OWN TO BATTLE AT LATONIA, KY.

HARRY F. SINCLAIR AND ADMIRAL GRAYSON AGREE ON MILE AND 6 FURLONGS RACE

DISTANCE TO BE TEST OF STAMINA AS WELL AS FLEETNESS, SET FOR NOVEMBER 3

(By United Press)

New York, Oct. 23.—The battle of three-year-olds, for which the American racing public has been clamoring—a test of speed between Harry F. Sinclair's Zev and Admiral Cary T. Grayson's My Own—will be waged at Latonia, Ky., November 3.

Both owners have agreed to send their colts in the Latonia championship of a mile and six furlongs. The distance, a test of stamina as well as fleetness, is a bit long for the liking of the Sinclair thoroughbred.

Zev made such a good showing at Belmont Park Saturday, however, when he ran away from Papyrus, the much-vaunted English champion, over a mile and a half and finished without showing distress, that Sam Hildreth, trainer, feels the son of the Fann will show his best foot on the longer race. My Own, which caught a slight cold in the train journey to Belmont Park from Laurel last Friday, will be in physical condition for the championship, according to W. H. Burch, his trainer.

There will be other good horses in the race—In Memoriam, which won the Illinois Derby and is rated the best three-year-old of the West, and Harry Payne Whitney's Enchantment, held to be the best gelding in the country, are entered.

But as far as the racing public at large is concerned it will be the long waited test between Zev and My Own that will attract.

MY OWN HAS A BAD COLD

Washington, Oct. 23.—My Own, Admiral Cary T. Grayson's three-year-old, is suffering from a cold contracted on his journey to New York last Friday at the request of the Jockey club, and may not be able to start in either the $25,000 Washington Handicap at Laurel next Saturday or against Zev in the Latonia championship on November 3, Admiral Grayson announced today.

CHASE PUTS BAN ON SIGNBOARD SITES

ANTICIPATES LEGISLATION BARRING ADVERTISING MEDIUMS FROM HIGHWAYS DEC. 1

The law passed by the state legislature in the last session, at the urging of numerous civic organizations, requires that signboards be removed from public highways before next Dec. 1.

No Hardship Seen
"I am certain that my ruling today will work no hardship upon advertisers, since the newspapers of the state are entirely adequate to carry their message to the public," Mr. Chase said. "It will work no hardship upon billboard companies, since it will prevent the initial financial outlay for the erection of the boards."

It will operate as a safety measure to the extent that it will prevent the construction of billboards which obstruct the view and distract the attention at dangerous cross roads and corners.

Preserve Scenic Beauties
"It will be another step to preserve the scenic beauties of Minnesota and prevent their disfigurement. Tourists in increasing thousands are coming into our state to admire its beauties, enjoy its climate and partake of its hospitality. MIND BLANK AS TO MARRIAGE WITH 3RD WIFE, ANN MURPHY

FEDERAL AGENT SLUGGED BY BEER RUNNER MAY NOW SURVIVE ATTACK

WHITNEY IS 40 YEARS OLD, LUELLE WHITNEY 37 AND ANN MURPHY 24

(By United Press)

St. Cloud, Minn., Oct. 23.—Like many others who went across, Arthur E. Whitney's service in the world war was the turning point of his life.

Whitney, Minneapolis federal prohibition agent, slugged by beer runners near New Munich last week, was gassed three times while fighting in France.

His life previous to the third and last gas attack was a blank.

Returning to New York, he married Ann Murphy, ignorant of the fact that he was already married and the father of two sons.

His first wife, Mrs. Luella Whitney, Grafton, N. D., was beside him when he regained consciousness yesterday after being "under" since the blow was struck by a "beer bandit," and he at once recognized and welcomed his wife.

He knows nothing of his marriage to Ann Murphy, who, it is expected, will become a mother soon.

Physicians said yesterday that Whitney will recover from the effects of injuries sustained when he was knocked under the wheels of the "beer truck."

It was at first expected he would die.

Whitney is 40 years old. Mrs. Luella Whitney is 37, and Ann Murphy 24.

OFFICERS IN ANOTHER FIGHT WITH VIOLATORS

Minneapolis, Oct. 23.—Prohibition agents engaged in another fight with alleged liquor law violators late yesterday.

This is the third attack on officers within a week.

Last Wednesday A. E. Whitney was seriously injured when knocked from a truck alleged to have been removing beer from a confiscated lot in New Munich brewery.

Early Sunday morning a shot was fired into the home of H. A. Paris, Minneapolis, narrowly missing his son, William.

The attack yesterday occurred at Pierz, Minn., when agents raided the bar of Barney Gross. About 40 men were in the place, according to the report of the agents. Two Federal men went into the bar and obtained liquor, they say, and then told Gross he was under arrest.

Some of the men rushed to an adjoining pool room, returning armed with pool cues.

Louis, 18, son of Barney Gross, rushed from the room, but returned, while one of the agents held him crouching at bay and another searched behind the bar. A third sought aid from other agents stationed at a nearby hotel.

As the other agents reached the bar they found Louis just picking up a deer rifle. They leaped on him as he crouched behind the bar, wrestling it from him, but he escaped.

A warrant has been issued for his arrest. Patrols fled when reserve agents appeared, all armed.

Pierz is near Little Falls, and it is reported to be the wettest town of its size in the state. It is 60 miles from New Munich, where the beer robbery took place last week.

St. Louis, Oct. 23.—A man and woman, believed to be Wilbert Grand and his wife, Rose, from Chicago, were shot and killed early today by robbers at a suburban inn near here. Their chauffeur, who was seriously wounded, gave their names and said they attempted to resist the robbers.

VALUE OF W. H. LOCKER ESTATE PUT AT $11,100

Duluth, Oct. 23.—W. H. Locker, prominent Duluth mining man, attorney and real estate operator, who was killed Thursday night in an automobile accident near Carlton, left an estate of $11,100, according to a petition for probate of his will filed Monday in probate court.

The estate was divided into personal property: Stock, $1,000; miscellaneous, $10,000; real property, unimproved land valued at $109 situated in Crow Wing county.

Outside of a few bequests the estate is left in equal parts to his wife, Lucie V. Locker, who is appointed executor; a son, Ernest G. Locker, and a daughter, Lucie Virginia Locker.

The estate is to be turned into cash, according to the will, and invested conservatively until the children have reached the age of 21. The estate is then to be divided.

Two cousins are left $100 each and three, $50 each.

FOG ON GREAT LAKES CAUSES MILLION LOSS

Duluth, Minn., Oct. 23.—One million dollars! That is the unofficial amount of the loss incurred by Great Lakes shipping agencies as the result of a single fog on Lake Superior similar to the one recently experienced which virtually stopped vessel movements on the upper lake for the better part of one week.

For 48 hours the passages at the Soo canal, the entrance into Lake Superior, totaled but a few ships. The majority of the fleet was either tied up behind some protecting point in the lake or at the docks or in the harbors.

EAST ST. LOUIS WOMAN DIES AFTER DRINKING POISONOUS WHISKY

East St. Louis, Ill., Oct. 23.—Mrs. Margaret Davis, 23, died at a local hospital from the effects of poisonous whisky she drank at a "party" last night. Two other women and three men, who also attended the party, are ill, but physicians said they probably would recover.

CHASE PUTS BAN ON SIGNBOARD SITES

ANTICIPATES LEGISLATION BARRING ADVERTISING MEDIUMS FROM HIGHWAYS DEC. 1

St. Paul, Oct. 23.—All requests to lease state lands for billboard purposes will be refused in future, anticipating signboard legislation which will go into effect Dec. 1, Ray P. Chase, state auditor, said in a letter to C. M. Babcock, state commissioner of highways, today.

The law passed by the state legislature in the last session, at the urge of numerous civic organizations, requires that signboards be removed from public highways before next Dec. 1.

No Hardship Seen

"I am certain that my ruling today will work no hardship upon advertisers, since the newspapers of the state are entirely adequate to carry their message to the public," Mr. Chase said. "It will work no hardship upon billboard companies, since it will prevent the initial financial outlay for the erection of the boards."

It will operate as a safety measure to the extent that it will prevent the construction of billboards which obstruct the view and distract the attention at dangerous cross roads and corners.

Preserve Scenic Beauties

"It will be another step to preserve the scenic beauties of Minnesota and prevent their disfigurement. Tourists in increasing thousands are coming into our state to admire its beauties, enjoy its climate and partake of its hospitality."

"The entertainment of these guests will be an increasingly profitable business, and we shall make every effort to preserve our beauty spots and prevent their destruction or disfigurement."

WOMAN INDICTED IN MALPRACTISE CASE

SIMILAR ACTION BY GRAND JURY AGAINST FIVE CLERKS REPORTED NEAR

Minneapolis, Oct. 23.—Mrs. Sally Bailey, 2442 Bloomington avenue, was indicted by the Hennepin county grand jury and evidence against five men was considered when the jury took up consideration of charges of criminal malpractice against them. Additional indictments were reported about to be returned.

The indictment of Mrs. Bailey, who made a 32 page statement concerning her activities at the Bloomington avenue address, and consideration of evidence against a number of drug clerks whom she named as her agents to obtain patients, followed the appearance of detectives and investigators for the county attorney before the jury.

Five drug clerks are held for the grand jury.

MIND BLANK AS TO MARRIAGE WITH 3RD WIFE, ANN MURPHY

FEDERAL AGENT SLUGGED BY BEER RUNNER MAY NOW SURVIVE ATTACK

WHITNEY IS 40 YEARS OLD, LUELLEA WHITNEY 37 AND ANN MURPHY 24

(By United Press)

St. Cloud, Minn., Oct. 23.—Like many others who went across, Arthur E. Whitney's service in the world war was the turning point of his life.

Whitney, Minneapolis federal prohibition agent, slugged by beer runners near New Munich last week, was gassed three times while fighting in France.

His life previous to the third and last gas attack was a blank.

Returning to New York, he married Ann Murphy, ignorant of the fact that he was already married and the father of two sons.

His first wife, Mrs. Luella Whitney, Grafton, N. D., was beside him when he regained consciousness yesterday after being "under" since the blow was struck by a "beer bandit," and he at once recognized and welcomed his wife.

He knows nothing of his marriage to Ann Murphy, who, it is expected, will become a mother soon.

Physicians said yesterday that Whitney will recover from the effects of injuries sustained when he was knocked under the wheels of the "beer truck."

It was at first expected he would die.

Whitney is 40 years old. Mrs. Luella Whitney is 37, and Ann Murphy 24.

OFFICERS IN ANOTHER FIGHT WITH VIOLATORS

Minneapolis, Oct. 23.—Prohibition agents engaged in another fight with alleged liquor law violators late yesterday.

This is the third attack on officers within a week.

Last Wednesday A. E. Whitney was seriously injured when knocked from a truck alleged to have been removing beer from a confiscated lot in New Munich brewery.

Early Sunday morning a shot was fired into the home of H. A. Paris, Minneapolis, narrowly missing his son, William.

The attack yesterday occurred at Pierz, Minn., when agents raided the bar of Barney Gross. About 40 men were in the place, according to the report of the agents. Two Federal men went into the bar and obtained liquor, they say, and then told Gross he was under arrest.

Some of the men rushed to an adjoining pool room, returning armed with pool cues.

Louis, 18, son of Barney Gross, rushed from the room, but returned, while one of the agents held him crouching at bay and another searched behind the bar. A third sought aid from other agents stationed at a nearby hotel.

As the other agents reached the bar they found Louis just picking up a deer rifle. They leaped on him as he crouched behind the bar, wrestling it from him, but he escaped.

A warrant has been issued for his arrest. Patrons fled when reserve agents appeared, all armed.

Pierz is near Little Falls, and it is reported to be the wettest town of its size in the state. It is 60 miles from New Munich, where the beer robbery took place last week.

St. Louis, Oct. 23.—A man and woman, believed to be Wilbert Grand and his wife, Rose, from Chicago, were shot and killed early today by robbers at a suburban inn near here. Their chauffeur, who was seriously wounded, gave their names and said they attempted to resist the robbers.

LOOK OVER HIGHWAY IS FALL SUGGESTION

OPEN SEASON HERE FOR ESTIMATING RETURNS FROM GOOD ROADS

Everybody knows that good roads mean bigger loads moved in shorter time and many other gains for farmers, also big savings for automobile owners on gasoline, tires and other expenses.

And this is a good time to check up and think about roads. Commissioner Charles M. Babcock suggests in a highway bulletin this week.

Farmers taking new crops to market and automobilists driving over newly improved roads may find it easy to figure big profits on the betterments. Those using highways to be improved as quickly as funds are available may count ahead, and figure as easily the extra time required to move crops in smaller loads and bump along on unimproved roads. All probably will conclude, the bulletin continues, that there are few if any investments for public funds offering the big and direct returns that come from better roads.

The bulletin states that the highway department has endeavored to treat all parts of the state fairly and used its best efforts to keep all sections of the big 7,000-mile trunk highway system in as good condition as possible with the funds provided. It calls public attention particularly to the fact that travel on Minnesota highways this year is greatly increased over the volume last year and the effect is apparent, especially on overburdened sections with gravel surfacing. Highway users are asked to exercise their own judgment on first-hand observations and decide what will be their attitude toward extending road improvements.

The bulletin adds that an average tax of $18 on automobiles, as planned, with continued federal aid, will finance the trunk highway program, provided that funds are used to the best advantage.

WIN BACK GIRLHOOD, HEALTH AND BEAUTY!

Medical science can be of great value to the woman who feels she has lost the charm and spirit of youth and seeks to regain it—the woman who is easily fatigued, easily upset, nervous, dyspeptic—who finds dark circles under her eyes, her complexion sallow, her eyes dull instead of sparkling and the girlhood lines of her figure slipping away. Simply take a good vegetable tonic. That prescribed by Dr. H. S. Thacher, the celebrated Physician, is being used by thousands of well-known women. It is a scientifically designed tonic to help correct constipation (one cause) and it does it without gripping; also to improve digestion, to neutralize and tone up the system, soothe those tired, overtaxed nerves; put on solid, firm flesh and send purer, healthier blood flooding through your cheeks.

Try it yourself. Just a spoonful after the next few meals. Notice the quick difference in the way you eat, sleep, look and feel. If you are not completely satisfied your druggist is authorized to return your money.

SUITOR SHOTS SELF TO WIN KISS; GIRL CALLS IT ONE OF PITY

Mason City, Iowa, Oct. 23.—Roy P. Pfeuger, aged 24, had to shoot himself to win a kiss from Coilla Phillis, aged 16. After his attentions had been repeatedly spurned by the girl, he waited in his automobile in front of the Phillis home until she returned from a dance with another boy. I'm going to shoot myself if you don't kiss me, he told her, after his rival had left. Coilla brushed by him and went on into the house. Shortly a shot was heard and she rushed out and found him, bleeding from his side, in an automobile in front of the house.

"Won't you kiss me now?" he pleaded as police carried him into the house for first aid treatment. The girl bent over and pressed her lips to his. At the hospital, where the bullet was extracted from near his heart, physicians said they thought he would live.

Coilla insists her kiss was one of pity. She still doesn't love the man who shot himself to win a kiss.

LINDSEY REFUSES TO TELL JURY OF ILLEGAL OPERATIONS

Denver, Colo., Oct. 23.—Judge Ben B. Lindsey will refuse to tell a Denver county grand jury what he knows of illegal operations performed in the city.

District Attorney Van Cise issued a summons to Lindsey to appear before the grand jury at 10 a. m. today to substantiate stories that the Denver birth rate had been cut 50 per cent by such operations.

"I will not violate confidences of girls and women in any court," Lindsey said. "I feel sure the grand jury will sustain me in this action."

LAW ENFORCEMENT CONFERENCE

IN addressing the governors of the several states in the law enforcement conference held in Washington, President Coolidge, starting from the premiss that "a government which does not enforce its laws is unworthy of the name of a government," went on to insist that there must be complete cooperation between the states and the federal government in an effort to check the widespread lawlessness which threatens the stability of American institutions.

The president expressed the conviction that "the body of the people, are thoroughly law-abiding." This statement may not be as true as it seems to be. The problem of law enforcement is not confined to dealing with those who supply liquor; it has to do also with those who demand it, and those who demand it are equally as guilty as those who supply the demand. The fact that there are so many persons engaged in supplying this demand proves that there are many others making the demand, as a few purveyors can meet the demands of a large number of consumers. It is pleasant to think that this traffic is restricted and that the people in general are not a party to it, but the gravity of a situation that calls together the governors of the states in conference in Washington suggests that the government is not so sure of the attitude of the people. It may be true that the public is law-abiding to the extent that is predicated in the president's statement, but the public is not aroused over the matter of violations of the law by a majority of the public, and until public sentiment is aroused this violation will continue.

A program of procedure was mapped out by the conference and the seventh point—a point which was not in the original draft but was introduced by the governor of Minnesota—is the most important of the provisions. Governor Preus introduced the seventh point which is forward-looking and sees in the education of the rising generation a means of securing a dry nation. It reads: "Education of children of the evils of the use of alcohol through the superintendent of instruction in the public schools."

The whole matter concerns the enforcement of a law which interferes with the habits and the appetites of people and which, therefore, finds many without the will to obey, but if the children are taught the evil effects of the use of alcohol the next generation will have the will to obey. Here lies the important point in the whole attempt to secure law enforcement. Unless there is the will to obey the officers of the law will be met by all kinds of hindrances when they attempt to enforce the law. Juries will be prejudiced against the evidence submitted, witnesses will not appreciate their duty to the state and the pressure of public sentiment will not back up the efforts of officers. It is hard to change the attitudes to life taken by adults. Their habits are fixed and their attitudes set and few there are who change. But with children it is different. Their attitudes and habits are not fixed and may be determined by education and direction. This generation will not witness anything like perfect law enforcement but if the next generation is rightly educated that generation will see a wholesome respect for law and the will to violate the law will be largely absent. A nation's destiny is always in the hands of the next generation.

NAVY DAY

THE Navy League has fixed October 27th as the day in which Americans will be asked to consider the relations of the American navy to American history and America's future. It is fitting that this matter should have attention on the late Colonel Roosevelt's birthday, for he, more than others, was an apostle of preparedness.

The place taken by the American navy in the history of this great republic is well known to those who have passed through the schools where they were required to read a certain amount of history. But the Navy League is convinced that the public does not appreciate the position a navy takes in determining the destiny of a nation. In taking up the ideas that are to be impressed upon the public on Navy Day, writers attempt to prove that a strong navy is one of the most essential needs of a great nation and that in proportion to the decrease in the strength of their navies great nations in the past have ceased to be important. Such writers claim that by keeping the sea lanes open for commerce and by a display of strength commerce is given an opportunity, freedom of trade is guaranteed and peace is preserved.

Such statements as these may pass unchallenged, but they are not facts. There may be freedom of trade for the nation that has the strongest navy, there may be a place in the sun for the nation that makes a display of its naval strength, but in the light of the years just preceding 1914 it cannot be conceded that a strong navy prevents war and conserves peace. In 1914 Britain had by far the strongest navy in the world, and just to what extent that navy was responsible for the development of German militarism has never been finally determined, but that it had a great deal to do with it is generally conceded, and in 1914 the British navy did not prevent the greatest war in history.

It is essential that a fair statement of the case be presented to the American public if Navy Day is to serve any good purpose. If such days are destined to encourage navalism in the United States they had better not be. Given a world as it is, a strong navy is needed by a great nation, but given a world as it might be, and as one day it will be, a navy would not be needed at all. If attention is directed to the fact that in a system that legalizes war it is necessary to be prepared for war, that which is beyond question will be considered, but if thought is concentrated on the navy until navalism becomes the best hope of the American people, Navy Day will be subversive of the best hopes of the people.

Navies are not built to further the ends of peace; they are built to engage in conflict, and if navalism is encouraged in the United States the time may come when the people will feel, as the Germans felt in 1914 that it would not be a bad plan to try this strength against the world. If Navy Day stresses navalism its purpose is subversive of the people's best interests, if it emphasizes the fact that given a world as it is a strong navy is needed it will deal with facts, but if it dims the vision of many who are intent upon outlawing war and scrapping navies, which will be no longer needed when the system that calls for them is outlawed, it will be stressing present facts to the exclusion of future possibilities.

THE GREAT SPECIALIST RETURNS TO VIENNA

DR. CLEMENS PIQUET after three weeks in the Twin Cities has decided to return to the great children's hospital in Vienna where he may carry on his research work. Called upon by the University of Minnesota to come to this state as specialist in pediatrics, the great Vienna doctor accepted the call with full knowledge of the facts so far as these could be communicated over a long distance. But when the doctor saw things as they are and found that he could not continue his research work for some time to come because of lack of equipment he felt impelled to return to Vienna to resume his experiments.

This is another case of a man feeling the call of that to which he has dedicated his life. He might have superintended the building of a large children's hospital at the University of Minnesota and without doubt his compensation there would have been much greater than it is in Vienna, but during the time required to complete the building the doctor's research work would have been interrupted and he has chosen to return to Vienna to serve the children there and seek further knowledge in the field in which he is a specialist.

Minnesota regrets Dr. Piquet's decision. But its regret is tempered by the knowledge that Minnesota may gain something through it. Dr. Piquet might have superintended the construction of a large children's hospital here and have failed to give to the world new knowledge of methods for treating crippled children, which in time may save many little lives in Minnesota, when other doctors, using the knowledge he has gained, pursue their work in the new hospital at our state university. It is true of life that one man lays the foundation and another buildeth thereon. Minnesota loses something through the doctor's return to his home town but Minnesota and the world may yet gain more through his return. There are others who are capable of superintending the construction of the crippled children's hospital in Minnesota who could not secure the results Dr. Piquet is likely to get through his continued research, and with this hope, and assured of his fidelity to his calling, the people of Minnesota will wish him success in his life's work, a success whose value will be shared by other specialists and by the crippled children whom their skill enables to walk.

LAW-BREAKERS WHO ARE READY TO KILL

THE people of Minnesota have been aroused by the maiming of A. E. Whitney, a prohibition agent. Many who have been inclined to consider violation of the Volstead act as something apart from violations of other laws have been stirred by the shocking details of this attack upon an officer of the law.

This maiming which is likely to be fatal was done at a time when the federal government and state governments are cooperating in an effort to arouse a new sense of respect for law in the several states of the union. Coming at such a time it will have a tendency to focus interest upon the deliberate violation of this law and the organized trade in liquor which stays not at the command of constituted authority but, when faced by an officer doing his duty, deliberately strikes him down, maimed and possibly dying, to be picked up by associates and carried to the hospital or the grave. Such criminal acts arouse the feeling of the people. At heart the people respect those who try to do their duty and they honor men who seek to do their duty in the face of danger. A. E. Whitney did what many are doing every day, but in going into the danger, deliberately, in line of duty, he was a hero and the public appraising him as such will be intent upon bringing to an end an illegal traffic which stops not even when its march may leave in its wake men who have been maimed and crushed under its heavy and heartless wheels.

THE draft evader who, dressed in his mother's clothes, worked his farm while the neighbors slept and did not meet his neighbors for five years has paid the price of his evasion.

THE doctors in Britain are planning to go on strike and if they do there will be fewer calls when they go back to their practice.

ZEV is a favorite now. Whatever folk thought of him before the international race they think well of him today.

Lum Park Made a Wonderful Showing. Reported by Hugo A Kaatz

Mrs. J. H. Herbert, chairman of the streets and boulevard committee, reported progress on the re-naming of the streets in Northeast Brainerd, at the first meeting of the fall season of the Northeast Brainerd Improvement League, held at the Lowell school on Monday evening. It was reported that a committee from the Civic & Commerce Association, headed by Carl Zapffe, has been working on this matter for some time.

The League went on record as favoring the re-naming of all the streets in Northeast Brainerd running east and west, to the letters of the alphabet, from "A" street North-east, to "Q" street, N. E. The avenues could be run north and south, as they now do, leaving Gillis Avenue as it is at present, and then start with First Avenue and numbering the streets in this way to the east city limits. The short street, three blocks in length, now known as First street could be called League street.

Educational Extension Work

Mrs. Rose Powell spoke on educational extension work, as offered by the University of Minnesota. Brainerd took advantage of this opportunity last winter when the classes in public speaking were given. Mrs. Powell spoke of the big need of more educational facilities for adults in this country and the manner in which the university is prepared to meet this need. Facilities should be at hand, she stated, for any wishing to extend his or her education. Minnesota will go fifty-fifty with any community in Americanization work, she said.

The League endorsed the resolutions favoring the opening of night schools, and Mrs. Powell was appointed as a special committee to take care of presenting the matter to the proper officials.

Vocational Training

E. L. Dahl spoke of the vocational training for disabled veterans of the world war. He called attention to the 59 such trainees now under the supervision of the Brainerd Board of Education, and the money received by them from the government each month, most of which is spent locally.

Lum Park Cleared $2,300

Hugo A. Kaatz, a member of the park board, spoke on Lum park which has been under his supervision the past summer. He stated that $2,300 had been realized from the park this season, one thousand dollars of this has been turned over to the city treasurer to be placed in the permanent improvement fund. The board is now cleaning up the grounds in the park, putting in a new pathway across the creek, moving the bath houses and placing benches in the park, preparatory to next season's requirements.

The matter of enforcing traffic laws during the noon hour, especially on Kindred and Third avenue, was discussed at length.

Grade Crossing Considered

The matter of a grade crossing connecting the north portion of the city with the south portion east of Eighth street, was given considerable attention. It was pointed out that there is no separate crossing provided between these two sections other than in the downtown district, which necessitates a long detour and the deviation of much heavy traffic over more than a mile of heavily travelled paved city streets.

It is felt that the city by the Northern Pacific tracks, is divided into two main portions, one on each side of the railway. More than sixty per cent of the residents of Brainerd reside on the east side of Broadway, necessitating a long detour, and the crossing of the tracks by hundreds of school children daily.

The League went on record as urging the investigation of the possibilities of providing a grade crossing convenient for both wheel and foot travel, east of the Broadway crossing, and in a resolution to the mayor and city council, asks that a consultation be held with the Northern Pacific Railway Co. to seek its cooperation in effecting such a crossing.

The League also passed a resolution of appreciation to the city council for its work in improving the city the past summer, especially in grading the streets, completing the general sewer and passing of several good ordinances.

Northern Pacific Thanked

A vote of thanks was given the Northern Pacific Railway Co. for its kindness in furnishing several carloads of cinders which were placed on that portion of Pearl street known as the cemetery road, thus making a much needed improvement there. This was embodied in a resolution which will be sent to the railway company.

The park board of the city was commended in a set of resolutions for its commendable handling of the parks, especially Lum park, this past season, thus making it a beauty spot cherished by thousands who visited it and enjoyed its many recreation facilities.

The date of meeting of the league was changed to the fourth Tuesday of each month, beginning with the November meeting. At that time there will be election of officers, postponed from Monday's meeting in the hope that more will be present. The publicity and social welfare committee was instructed to prepare a suitable program for the next meeting.

JUDGE McCLENAHAN AT NOVEMBER TERM

Problematical at Present as to Length of the November Term of District Court

10 CONTINUED CIVIL CASES

First Day, Nov. 6, Given Over to Grand Jury, Nov. 7 is Naturalization Day

The November term of the district court will open in the court house at Brainerd on Tuesday, November 6th, with Judge W. S. McClenahan on the bench. Whether or not it will be a long term is problematical, since attorneys have until October 30th in which to file their cases, and the majority usually wait until close to that date.

According to Clerk of the District Court, W. A. M. Johnstone's records, there are already ten continued civil cases, from the May term, seven criminal cases and four appealed cases, to be heard at this term.

The first day of the November term is given over to the grand jury. In the last term there were no grand jury cases, an exception to the rule. This year there will be a number, but they will not go on the calendar until disposed of by the grand jury.

The second day of the term is naturalization day, there being 34 applicants for citizenship. It is planned to provide a suitable patriotic program for this day, which has been placed in the hands of the Boy Scout Council.

The petit jury cases will open on the third of the new term and continue until the calendar has been disposed of.

SPORTS

FIGHT MANAGERS ARE O.K., SAYS FARRELL

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Oct. 23.—Johnny Dundee, world's featherweight champion, has taken unto himself a manager. That, in itself is not strange, because a manager is a standard part of a boxing equipment, but it is interesting in the case of Dundee, because for years he "went on his own."

Several years ago Dundee cut away from Scotty Monteith, the clever manager, who had brought out and made one of the greatest little fighters in the ring. Like many other boxers do, Dundee got to the point where he thought it was an unnecessary expense to have a manager cutting in on 25 per cent of his earnings and, believing that he could handle his own affairs, Dundee dismissed his manager.

Now that his earning capacity has been doubled or trebled with the possession of a world's championship, Dundee's actions in signing up Jimmy Johnston, a high-priced manager, to do his business for him, is an obvious admission that he found himself unfit to do both the fighting and the handling of his business.

It has long been debated whether managers are an influence for good or bad with a boxer. There are examples to support both sides of the argument, but there are vastly more boxers who have succeeded with managers than those who have gone it alone to the top.

Johnny Kilbane, former world's featherweight champion, was perhaps the most prominent example of a boxer who succeeded in handling his own affairs. No boxer in the history of the game got more out of the investment of such little time and labor as Kilbane did, but his was a very unusual case. Crafty business brains are very seldom any part of a boxer's equipment.

Kilbane cut away from Jimmy Dunn and he remarked when he retired from the ring, that he thought Dunn was the greatest developer and trainer of boxers in the business, but he had too much on his hands to give the proper attention to the business end of the game.

Jack Dempsey certainly would not have gone as far in the heavyweight division if he had not been guided by Jack Kearns, the greatest of all managers. Dempsey had the natural ability to reach the heavyweight championship without much guidance, but he certainly would not have commanded the fee for his services that Kearns was able to get for him.

Benny Leonard might have become the lightweight champion with some manager other than Billy Gibson, but it is very doubtful. Leonard is gracious enough to give Gibson the full credit for his rise to the top.

Jack Britton owed much to Dan Morgan for bringing to him the world's welterweight championship and a fortune that has made him carefree for the rest of his days.

Georges Carpentier never would have made his fortune or gained the fame that he earned with a manager less shrewd and canny than Francois Descamps.

There are as many examples, or perhaps more, of boxers who suffered by poor management. Eugene Criqui's case was the most recent. Criqui won the world's featherweight championship and lost it in the short space of two months. No smart American manager would have allowed him to take on a dangerous challenger in his first fight as a champion.

True, Criqui was forced to post a forfeit of $10,000 that he would meet Dundee in his next fight before he was allowed to fight Kilbane, but he could have gone back to France and forfeited his money. He was blackjacked by unfair methods into the agreement and it would not have been a breach of faith to demand a fair chance as the champion.

$400,000 GATE AT ZEV-PAPYRUS RACE

New York, Oct. 23.—Receipts of the international race between Zev and Papyrus set a mark for the world to meet. The official figures were not made known, but an unofficial check shows the amount taken in exceeded $400,000. In addition to this the motion picture rights were worth $50,000. With the expense of the race amounting to about $180,000 the Westchester Racing association is considered to have profited handsomely.

1924 Notre Dame-Army Game at Polo Grounds

New York Oct. 23.—Next year's football game between Notre Dame and the Army will be played at the Polo grounds, a contract having been signed Saturday. Notre Dame had wanted to play West Point at Chicago in 1924, but the Army objected.

FINEST BACKFIELD TO PLAY IN EAST

Joe Dunn and William Graham of Brainerd are students at Notre Dame and have taken an intense interest in athletics there. The Army defeat by Notre Dame was wired the Brainerd Dispatch by young Dunn. It's no wonder Notre Dame wins when the whole college is spurred and keyed up to do its level best in every endeavor.

New York, Oct. 23.—With just about the finest team that has been seen in the east for four or five years, Notre Dame's great eleven monopolizes the conversation wherever football is being discussed here.

No major eastern team has been so convincingly thrashed in recent years as Princeton was Saturday by Knute Rockne's Notre Dame eleven. Higher scores than 25 to 2 may have been piled up but it cannot be recalled when any eastern team made a star member of the sacred "Big Three" look so completely amateurish and powerless.

Coaches Were Gathered

Notre Dame has been a most prominent factor in eastern football for a number of years and in the past coaches gathered to wise themselves up on Notre Dame's latest models of using the forward pass.

Against Princeton, however, Notre Dame used the pass only as a threat and for an occasional diversity of attack. They beat the Tigers by straight football and a running game in which deception, delay and fake were used with more perfection than the famed "Houghton system" ever developed at Harvard.

The Finest Backfield

Miller, Layden, Crowley and Stuhldreher comprise the finest backfield that has been seen in a decade in the east. The light line showed a new method of offensive playing that is sure to be copied in the east. Veteran coaches were scratching their heads and trying to recall if they ever saw a guard get out and assist the interference for a back on sweeping end runs.

Cornell, West Virginia, Syracuse, Penn State and Yale are now the ranking teams of the east. Cornell, West Virginia and Penn State perhaps are out in front in the race for the mythical championship.

Yale Hard Hit

Yale is still undefeated and the blow sustained when Charlie O'Hearn broke his leg Saturday may reduce the effectiveness of the whole Yale attack.

Harvard is being brought along slowly and so far the form of the Crimson machine has not been overly promising.

Princeton may come back. The Tigers certainly should have learned something from Notre Dame.

IVORY FROM SKIMMED MILK

Substitute for This and Other Materials Is Produced by a Recent Process.

Combining beauty with utility, a material is being made from skimmed milk by a process recently brought to the United States from England. As it is non-inflammable, odorless, and can be drilled, glued or dyed, it has a multitude of uses as a substitute for ivory, ebony, amber, tortoiseshell, horn, and other similar products. Besides, it may be used as an almost perfect imitation of many natural products of great price, among them being Chinese jade and lapis lazuli. A brilliant polish is easily obtained and it can be bent, pressed, and, to some extent, moulded, or machined. As it is a non-conductor of electricity, it may be used in making decorative radio and lighting fixtures. Also it has been found valuable for ships' cabins, hand-rails, automobile fixtures, and in the making of beads, buckles, buttons, jewelry, fancy ornaments, cigarette holders, combs, brushes, carriage handles, parts of furniture, pencils and penholders, organ stops, and piano keys.

Hongkong's Swift Growth.

Hongkong, when occupied by the British in 1841, was just a barren island, and the part of the peninsula opposite, known as Kowloon, merely sand and marshland. The inhabitants were fishermen or pirates, or both. Today Hongkong with its thriving city of Victoria, holds a population of about 1,000,000. In 40 years the revenue and expenditures of Hongkong and its suburbs have increased twenty-fold. One of its difficulties is the housing question. Standardized houses with from four to six rooms are being erected at a cost of $4,000 to $6,500. Hongkong's harbor has been so much improved that it now ranks as one of the greatest ports in the world.

BLUES RALLY, BUT LOSE TO BALTIMORE

Baltimore, Oct. 23.—The Orioles prolonged the little world's series by winning the seventh game from Kansas City yesterday afternoon, 10 to 9. Five runs behind when they came in for the final bats, the Blues flashed a thrilling five-run rally, tying the score and knocking Lefty Groves from the rubber. Tommy Thomas was rushed to the rescue and stopped the run-making after allowing one hit.

Baltimore, however, came back in last half of the ninth and scored the necessary run to win. Wilkinson, who had been sent in to pitch after a pinch hitter had batted for Zinn, started badly by walking Maisel. Porter singled over short and Sheedy was hit, filling the bases. Bishop grounded to Hammond and Maisel was safe at the plate.

Score— R. H. E.
Kansas City 100 020 015— 9 13 0
Baltimore 002 023 111—10 13 3

O'Hearn Breaks Leg; Has Played Last Game With Old Eli Eleven

New Haven, Conn., Oct. 23.—Charley O'Hearn has played his last game of college football. Yale's greatest all-around athlete lies in the New Haven general hospital with a broken leg, received in the tackle by a Bucknell end which swept him from the game in the fifth play.

Dr. Leonard Sanford, the Yale team surgeon, set the broken bone, and said that while O'Hearn might be able to join the hockey sextette in January and join the baseball nine, of which he is captain, in the spring, he will hardly leave the hospital before the final football matches. As O'Hearn is a senior, this means his football days are over.

Biggest Land Area in Asia.

Asia covers one-third the land surface of the globe, with a coast line more than 9,000 miles greater than the entire circumference of the earth, says the Detroit News. The continent stretches from the equator to the north pole; from the narrow Behring strait that separates it from North America to the Suez canal that cuts it off from Africa. It embraces the most desolate and uninhabitable areas of the earth; at the same time it sustains the densest populations. Its face is scarred by the deepest depressions yet measured by man; while, on the other hand, its tremendous un conquered, mist-shrouded mountains far overtop those of all other continents. It experiences the highest known temperatures and also the coldest known to man—temperatures far colder than the Polar regions.

A pound loaf of bread contains about eight ounces of starch, which serves as fuel for the body; one and a half ounces of protein, which in addition to serving as fuel helps to build and repair the body machinery; one ounce of water and a half ounce of fat, sugar and mineral substances, which latter help to make bones and teeth.

Amusing Incident Results in "Ruggles of Red Gap"

The average Englishman's failure to get the point of the witty sayings of Americans was never displayed more amusingly than in the Paramount picture "Ruggles of Red Gap," now showing at the Lyceum theatre. Ruggles, the English valet of Cousin Egbert, the former played by Edward Horton and the other by Ernest Torrance, on his first visit to America is persuaded by his master to ask a certain person what day of the week it happens to be. If he says Tuesday and it is Tuesday Ruggles is to "poke him in the eye." But Ruggles insists that it is Tuesday, and the man is sure to answer in the affirmative. "That's just it," exclaims Egbert, marveling at this fellow's denseness. But does Ruggles ask the question? If so, what happens? The picture gives an amusing answer. Don't miss it. It has its last showing tonight.

It was during the filming of "The Lane That Had No Turning," Agnes Ayres' Paramount picture, which comes to the Lyceum theatre on Wednesday and Thursday, and she was the occupant of the equipage. In the story she is pursuing the villain who has the missing will which proves her husband is not the heir of the Seigneury of Pontiac.

"Old Time Orchestra" Wednesday at Lyceum

The Lyceum is staging another "Old Timers Night" at that popular theatre on Wednesday night, but this time there will be a trio of different old time local musicians, consisting of fiddle, banjo, and mouth organ, who will furnish the fun for about 10 minutes. This old time orchestra has been rehearsing for several days, and is reported in fine condition.

VIOLA DANA in a Scene from CRINOLINE and ROMANCE

Her Bathing Suit Creates Sensation. An extraordinary bathing suit is shown by Viola Dana in her new picture, "Crinoline and Romance," which Harry Beaumont directed for Metro, showing at the New Park on Wednesday and Thursday. It was a secret, and the little star had bidden every member of the company to help her keep it. "For one part of the picture I wear a regular, up-to-date one piece bathing suit," she said. "It is one of those brief affairs that are fine for swimming but no protection against sunburn."

FIGHT MANAGERS ARE O.K., SAYS FARRELL

By HENRY L. FARRELL
United Press Sports Editor

New York, Oct. 23.—Johnny Dundee, world's featherweight champion, has taken unto himself a manager. That, in itself is not strange, because a manager is a standard part of a boxing equipment, but it is interesting in the case of Dundee, because for years he "went on his own."

Several years ago Dundee cut away from Scotty Monteith, the clever manager, who had brought out and made one of the greatest little fighters in the ring. Like many other boxers do, Dundee got to the point where he thought it was an unnecessary expense to have a manager cutting in on 25 per cent of his earnings and, believing that he could handle his own affairs, Dundee dismissed his manager.

Now that his earning capacity has been doubled or trebled with the possession of a world's championship, Dundee's actions in signing up Jimmy Johnston, a high-priced manager, to do his business for him, is an obvious admission that he found himself unfit to do both the fighting and the handling of his business.

It has long been debated whether managers are an influence for good or bad with a boxer. There are examples to support both sides of the argument, but there are vastly more boxers who have succeeded with managers than those who have gone it alone to the top.

Johnny Kilbane, former world's featherweight champion, was perhaps the most prominent example of a boxer who succeeded in handling his own affairs. No boxer in the history of the game got more out of the investment of such little time and labor as Kilbane did, but his was a very unusual case. Crafty business brains are very seldom any part of a boxer's equipment.

Kilbane cut away from Jimmy Dunn and he remarked when he retired from the ring, that he thought Dunn was the greatest developer and trainer of boxers in the business, but he had too much on his hands to give the proper attention to the business end of the game.

Jack Dempsey certainly would not have gone as far in the heavyweight division if he had not been guided by Jack Kearns, the greatest of all managers. Dempsey had the natural ability to reach the heavyweight championship without much guidance, but he certainly would not have commanded the fee for his services that Kearns was able to get for him.

Benny Leonard might have become the lightweight champion with some manager other than Billy Gibson, but it is very doubtful. Leonard is gracious enough to give Gibson the full credit for his rise to the top.

Jack Britton owed much to Dan Morgan for bringing to him the world's welterweight championship and a fortune that has made him carefree for the rest of his days.

Georges Carpentier never would have made his fortune or gained the fame that he earned with a manager less shrewd and canny than Francois Descamps.

There are as many examples, or perhaps more, of boxers who suffered by poor management. Eugene Criqui's case was the most recent. Criqui won the world's featherweight championship and lost it in the short space of two months. No smart American manager would have allowed him to take on a dangerous challenger in his first fight as a champion.

True, Criqui was forced to post a forfeit of $10,000 that he would meet Dundee in his next fight before he was allowed to fight Kilbane, but he could have gone back to France and forfeited his money. He was blackjacked by unfair methods into the agreement and it would not have been a breach of faith to demand a fair chance as the champion.

CREAM WILL CLEAR A STUFFED-UP HEAD

If your nostrils are clogged and your head is stuffed because of nasty catarrh or a cold, apply a little pure, antiseptic cream into your nostrils. It penetrates through every air passage, soothing and healing swollen, inflamed membranes and you get instant relief.

Try this. Get a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm at any drug store. Your clogged nostrils open right up; your head is clear; no more hawking or snuffling. Count fifty. All the stuffiness, dryness, struggling for breath is gone. You feel fine.—Adv.
